

PRESS RELEASE

INSIGHT VIDEO NET'S CMS FLEX PROVIDES POWERFUL AUTOMATED VIDEO MANAGEMENT

RANCHO CUCAMONGA, CA---Insight Video Net today announced the release of CMS Flex, a powerful automated video management software solution for the security industry. CMS Flex is the latest release in the line of CMS or Central Management System software products, with a long-standing and proven track record in mobile video applications for the public safety market. This latest release, CMS Flex, is designed to automatically manage video from mobile and physical security environments plus any other digital assets related to an incident, which could include audio files, photographs and even documents. This allows users to build a comprehensive security library that can be quickly accessed using simple queries while protecting unauthorized information from being released to the media or internet. File operations such as viewing, exporting, or burning a file to a DVD can be restricted based on individual users or groups of users so only those that should be granted access to information are granted access. Policies can be developed to automatically distribute files to different storage locations based on the incident type and stored for any pre-determined time frame. Once the time frame expires, the file is removed from storage, helping to reduce the high cost of video storage. With DigitalProof™ audit trail capabilities; a report can be quickly generated showing what occurred throughout the life of a file, making it easy to investigate security breaches.

The software has undergone a user interface transformation that includes a new visual and intuitive design with thumbnail previews. The new “Extension Matrix” feature allows users to add virtually any custom or proprietary file extensions to the CMS Flex system to be managed with the same high integrity as standard media files. Even the pricing model has changed, providing three new pricing options and making ownership more affordable for all sizes and types of security departments.

According to Robert Carreon, Insight Video Net CEO, “CMS Flex should revolutionize how companies manage digital security information today. CMS Flex software helps streamline security operations by providing quick access to information, securing video as evidence, and restricting permissions only to authorized personnel.” Mr. Carreon added, “In a recent case in California, a popular singer was brought into the police station after an apparent assault and shortly thereafter unauthorized photos were released to the media without the consent of the Police Department. If CMS Flex had been employed, a simple query could have generated a report detailing who had access to the file, what type of file it was, when it was touched each time from the point of entry into the system, and what computer the file was extracted from. This could have helped prevent this serious security breach or quickly located who created the breach so it could have been addressed instantly. Immediate benefits such as avoiding potential litigation and/or negative public relations for the department could have been realized.”

CMS Flex is available now through Insight Video Net Resellers and is suitable for any vertical market in the digital networked security market. For more information about Insight Video Net or becoming an Insight Video Net Reseller, send an email to info@insightvideonet.com or call 909.367.0651.

About Insight Video Net

With deep experience in networked digital video and data management, Insight Video Net developed their Central Management System or CMS to manage video and other digital assets from both fixed and mobile applications. Their extensive experience in the public safety environment provided a forum for Insight Video Net to develop powerful media management tools that make it easy to automatically store, manage, and protect important and significant video—video that can help protect people and property, fight crime, and increase security to deliver confidence and peace of mind. Public safety, school districts, casinos, and retailers nationwide count on Insight Video Net for powerful, easy-to-use software, reliable system integration and ongoing support. www.insightvideonet.com

For Press Inquiries, Contact:

Jeri Hauth

Marketing Director

909.367.0651

jhauth@InsightVideoNet.com

www.InsightVideoNet.com